

Ladies & Gents,

So with this morning's 5AM update the uncertainty with Hurricane Dorian continues. It goes without saying that we still face the possibility of a major storm impacting PKS. So with that said, pls consider the following for the remainder of the holiday weekend.

- Use the next 2 days to prep your home. For everyone, but particular 2d homeowners who will leave tomorrow and not return until after Dorian, cut the water off to your home at the street before you leave
- Gas, generators, and plywood are already being gobbled up. Get it today.
- If your home is under renovation/repair, contact your contractor as soon as possible to have your property squared away.
- Take all the normal precautions for loss of power:
  - put jugs of water in your freezer today so you'll have blocks of ice inside if (when) we lose power later this week
  - Get that battery powered radio
  - *Florence lesson learned*--get an external battery recharger for your phone
  - Fill your cars with gas today
- *Florence lesson learned*--Take advantage of time today and tomorrow to take photographs of your property pre-storm.
- *Florence lesson learned*--get bug repellent

No decisions have been made yet on schools, evacs, curfews, etc., We'll put out the word as soon as we know.
